Experiential Learning Opportunities. Students are encouraged to take advantage of “experiential learning” opportunities in order to apply the substantive content presented in the classroom to work beyond the university. A variety of appropriate experiences can be arranged through placements in Ithaca (i.e. local health care facilities, senior centers, retirement communities, and Office for the Aging), in New York City (The Urban Semester), in Washington, D.C. (Cornell in Washington), and in other countries (Cornell Abroad Program). The Cornell Elderly Partnership also offers opportunities to connect with local elders. Undergraduates may also become involved in research projects.
